president's MESSAGE

One of our cover stories features the International Committee on Fundraising Organizations (ICFO), an association of national charity monitors. BBB Wise Giving Alliance has been an active ICFO member for many years, and I previously served on the organization's board. This group provides an excellent forum for members to learn from each other and to advance transparency and integrity among charities worldwide.

When disasters strike, such as February's earthquake in Turkey and Syria, donors around the globe are motivated to assist. In turn, monitors in many countries stand ready to help contributors find trustworthy disaster relief organizations to send their support. Information shared among ICFO members can also help spot potential problems.

As the war in Ukraine continues in its second year, many charities persist in their efforts to aid millions of Ukrainian refugees that have fled to other countries, and millions more who are internally displaced. I recently met with Kateryna Zhuk, a co-founder of Ukrainian ICFO member Charity Turner, while attending the ICFO annual meeting in Madrid, Spain. I invite you to hear her personal story by listening to the recent Heart of Giving Podcast. Visit the Give.org website for free access to our conversation.

In the coming months, Kateryna will author a series of blog posts on Give.org that will cover charity activities in Ukraine. We are proud to host this special feature and hope you will visit Give.org to learn from this first-hand account.

Thank you for your continuing interest and support of charity accountability.

H. Art Taylor, President & CEO

Charity Monitoring Worldwide

BBB Wise Giving Alliance is proud to be part of an international association of charity monitoring organizations, ICFO, which was founded in 1958 and has members representing 20 countries from Europe, Asia, Africa, and the Americas. While each country's context is unique, they are united by their approach to charity monitoring. The member organizations have well-rounded charity standards that promote good governance, effectiveness, strong finances, integrity, and transparency.

Like BBB Wise Giving Alliance, charities that are monitored by ICFO members are evaluated against comprehensive charity standards that seek to verify charity trustworthiness. The results of these evaluations are shared with the donating public and often involve seals that help alert donors to those charities that meet standards.

On March 23, 2023, the Spanish charity monitor, Fundación Lealtad, hosted an international conference in Madrid, Spain, to raise awareness about the combined work strengthening the nonprofit sector and building public confidence in trustworthy charities. More than 700 people from 38 countries attended the conference either in-person or virtually. The event addressed a variety of topics including: the importance of charity monitoring, different charity evaluation models, and the state of trust in charities and other institutions. In addition, media, corporate, and foundation representatives were invited to speak about the criteria they use when selecting charities for potential collaboration.

The “Monitors around the World” panel featured participants from our peers in Germany, Mexico, Netherlands, and Switzerland. For example, Burkhard Wilke, Chief Executive Officer of DZI in Germany, shared that his organization has a legacy of 130 years in charity monitoring. He attributed the organization's longevity to its structure, a partnership of five institutions representing welfare associations, business, the state, and the civil sector. Javier Garcia, Chief Executive Officer of Confío, spoke about how the socio-political context in Mexico makes public disclosure of financial information harder to enforce, as charity officials can face legitimate security concerns. Still, each of these organizations are making strides to advance a trustworthy charitable sector in their country context.

Size of Charity Workforce

A According to the latest available statistics from the IRS, in 2021 there were 1.9 million tax exempt organizations in the United States. The bulk of these, 1.4 million (72%), are tax-exempt as charities under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. In fact, the actual total number of charities is higher since this IRS figure does not include houses of worship as well as small organizations (with gross revenues less than $5,000) which are both not required to apply for 501(c)(3) status in order to have charitable tax-exempt status.

These impressive totals do not provide the complete picture. As reported in the latest Independent Sector quarterly review, The Health of the U.S. Nonprofit Sector, “Historically, the nonprofit sector is the third-largest employer in the U.S. economy and grows jobs four times faster than for-profit organizations” and represents 6.6 percent of the overall workforce. This publication also reports that in the third quarter of 2022, nonprofits contributed $1.5 trillion to the economy.

About 12 million people work in the nonprofit sector which is equivalent in size to the total

ICFO members include charity monitoring organizations from the following countries:

Austria	France	Luxemburg	Sweden
Brazil	Germany	Mexico	Switzerland
Burkina Faso	India	The Netherlands	Taiwan
Canada	Italy	Norway	Ukraine
Czech Republic	Japan	Spain	United States

number of people employed in manufacturing. This paid nonprofit workforce is further assisted by the 60.7 million people who volunteered between September 2020 and 2021, comprising 23.2 percent of the U.S. population. As estimated by AmeriCorps, this represents 4.1 billion hours with an economic value of $122.9 billion. This total number of volunteers reflects a 7 percent drop from the previous year which, in part, is due to the impact of Covid-19.

While some might think of just soup kitchens and animal shelters when asked about charities, the actual size, scope, and diversity of missions are reflected in hundreds of thousands of organizations that work tirelessly each day to address society's needs.

About 12 million people work in the nonprofit sector which is equivalent in size to the total number of people employed in manufacturing.

Online Giving is 12% of Total Fundraising

As websites, social media and other online communications continue to take a growing part of our daily lives, many assume that charity fundraising is also dominated by online transactions. While it is likely that technology will eventually lead to that result, the current reality is far from it. The Blackbaud Institute, which is associated with a cloud software and services company that works with nonprofits, has been measuring online giving for over 20 years. An analysis of 4,535 organizations by this group showed that in 2021, online giving was only 12% of total fundraising.

This 12% statistic, however, incorporates a significant diversity of circumstances. For example, smaller organizations with less than $1 million had 17.8% of their funds raised online during 2021. In contrast, larger nonprofits of $10 million or more completed 11.1% of their fundraising online. There are also different experiences depending on the type of charity. Religious organizations raised 16.8% online while environmental groups raised 5.1% online during 2021.

Also, the prevalence of smart phones has impacted online giving as a growing part of online donations. Back in 2015, 14% of online donations were made on mobile devices. In 2021, 28% of these gifts were made on mobile.

For now, direct mail, fundraising events, and other fundraising methods, particularly for nationally soliciting charities, still dominate. While donors should not expect that to change overnight, the online giving trend will continue to pick up speed as younger generations of givers are more likely to make their transactions online. At the same time, charities might help encourage more growth if more charity websites were optimized for mobile devices to make it easier for donors to contribute using their phones.

There are other influences that could help grow online fundraising even faster. As reported in the NonProfit Times, new postal rate increases might loom due in part to the drop in U.S. mail volume.

No matter how one chooses to contribute, we encourage donors to make sure the chosen charity meets the 20 BBB Standards for Charity Accountability.

Tax-Exempt Status is Not an Endorsement

To apply for U.S. charitable tax-exempt status, from the Internal Revenue Service, an organization must complete the 23-page application known as IRS Form 1023. A shorter version of the application for tax-exempt status (3 pages) was initially introduced in 2014 and is used by smaller charities with annual incomes of $50,000 or less. While the initial intention for this EZ version was to lessen application challenges for smaller charities, reduce a backlog of cases by the IRS, and address political controversies, it also received early criticism that it might lead to potential additional abuse and fraud.

As noted in the IRS Compliance Guide for 501(c)(3) Public Charities, the focus is on explaining how charities can comply with federal tax law to maintain their tax-exempt status. Although some turn to the Internal Revenue Service when problems emerge with charitable organizations, this agency was never established to serve in this overarching regulatory role. Also, the fact that an organization has received charitable tax-exempt status does not mean that the IRS approves, endorses, or recommends the charity to potential donors. Rather, it demonstrates that they have filed the appropriate application and, when required, annual financial information, to be exempt from paying federal income tax on the revenue it receives. In turn, donors can receive a tax deduction for contributions made to the organization. In terms of potential abuse, the IRS does look into such issues as charity transactions with related parties, unreasonable compensation, and other excess benefit transactions.

For the most part, state charity regulators (such as state offices of the Attorneys General and the Secretaries of State) serve as the primary regulators of charities. The majority of states require charities to annually register and file financial information if they intend to solicit for charitable donations in that state. And they are most likely to take action against charities found violating the duties of obedience, loyalty and care in how they manage the assets of the organization. When identified, states also can act on misleading appeals and/or fundraising campaigns that are not properly administered. But states are also quick to point out that registration with a state agency does not constitute or imply endorsement, approval, or recommendation by that state.

As a standards-based charity evaluator, however, BBB Wise Giving Alliance looks beyond the legal requirements in completing its reports on charities. While some of these issues in the BBB Standards for Charity Accountability overlap with legal requirements, the specific recommendations included in these standards, in many instances, call for practices that stretch beyond what the law can address. The distinction between legal requirements and voluntary recommendations is also reflected in the language used to describe them. One complies with regulations because the law requires it, in contrast one meets a standard if one chooses to follow it. In some ways, BBB Wise Giving Alliance seeks to help fill the trust gap between what charities are required to do by law and what the public expects them to do as good stewards of their generosity.

How to Read the List of National Charities

The following is an alphabetical listing of the charities that are the subjects of BBB Wise Giving Alliance evaluations. The list includes organizations that have requested to be evaluated as well as those that have received the highest volume of inquiries. The BBB WGA receives inquiries through the mail, phone, e-mail and referrals from local Better Business Bureaus.

Please note the following explanations about this list:

Name Inclusion: Inclusion on this list should not be interpreted as approval or disapproval of a charity. The information in this listing is intended solely to assist donors in exercising their own judgment.

Name Omission: Omission from this list should not be interpreted as meaning that a charity meets or does not meet standards. In general, it simply means that the BBB WGA has not developed a report because it has not received recent inquiries about a charity or a charity has not requested to be evaluated.

Latest Results: This list reflects the latest charity report results as of April 14, 2023. Charity reports are available until their expiration dates, generally two years after their completion. All reports are based on the BBB Wise Giving Alliance Standards for Charity Accountability.

Are you looking for a national charity that's not on our list? Ask us about specific national charities not currently included. Encourage national charities we don't currently report about to contact us about enrolling online (there's never a charge for evaluation). In either way, you can help expand the list.

Note to readers about "see entry for"

Charities sometimes use several names in their materials. In some cases the variation is only slight, such as using an acronym for the full name. In other cases, the names have no self-evident connection, as, for example, the official corporate name and a name used in fund raising. In still others, different individual names may denote different programs of the same organization. This list includes all names currently used by a charity, but the evaluation status of that charity appears only under the main entry. White horizontal bars indicate an alternate name, and refer you to the evaluation listing.

Definitions for the List's Column Headings

 Accredited (Met Standards) — Charities with a green check box  in the first column next to their name met the 20 Standards for Charity Accountability on pages 44-45. There is no charge to charities for the accreditation evaluation.

 Standards Not Met — If a charity has number codes (for example: 3, 6, 7) in the second column with a yellow X mark  that means the charity did not meet cited provision(s) of the BBB Charity Standards on pages 44-45.

 Unable to Verify — If a charity has number codes (for example: 8, 9, 13) in the column with a blue question mark  that means the BBB WGA was unable to verify if the charity met the cited provision(s) of the BBB Charity Standards on pages 44-45. This designation indicates that the charity either did not provide all of the requested information or the information provided was not sufficient to conclude that they met the cited standard(s).

 Did Not Disclose — If a charity has a red exclamation mark  the charitable organization either has not responded to written BBB WGA requests for information or has declined to be evaluated in relation to the BBB Standards for Charity Accountability. Charity participation in the BBB WGA's review is voluntary. However, without the requested information, it is not possible to determine whether these charities adhere to all of the BBB Standards for Charity Accountability. The BBB WGA encourages charities to disclose accountability information beyond that typically included in financial statements and government filings, in order to demonstrate transparency and strengthen public trust in the charitable sector. The majority of national charities contacted by BBB WGA provide information and participate in the BBB WGA's evaluation program.

 Review in Progress — Charities with a  in the column marked Review in Progress are being routinely evaluated based on current materials provided by the organization to the BBB WGA.

If a charity does not meet one or more BBB Charity Standards, you can review the explanation(s) of each finding.

Q&A about BBB Wise Giving Alliance

Q How is BBB WGA different from other charity evaluators?

A BBB WGA is a standards-based charity monitoring organization that addresses a variety of issues besides just financial metrics. BBB Charity Standards, include, but are not limited to, such issues as: board oversight, results reporting, appeal accuracy, annual report availability, cause-related marketing disclosures, and responsiveness to donor complaints. While charity finances are important, solely focusing on them will result in an incomplete picture of a charity's accountability. See the full list of our 20 standards at the end of this Guide.

Q Does BBB WGA rate or grade charities?

A No. Charities are not rated against one another. A BBB WGA evaluation concludes either that a charity meets all the standards or does not meet certain ones, for reasons described in the report. Whatever the conclusion, the report does not represent approval or disapproval of the organization or its cause. BBB WGA does not suggest that prospective contributors give, or not give, to any particular organization.

Q How does the BBB WGA decide which charities to review?

A Inquiries from the public about a particular national charity prompt a BBB WGA letter requesting that the charity file information for a review. These inquiries come to us directly, by mail, phone, e-mail, and in referrals from local Better Business Bureaus. In addition, charities may file information for a review on their own initiative. In either case, BBB WGA determines whether the charity is soliciting nationally before it requests information. There is no charge to charities for being evaluated.

National Charity Seal Licensing Program

Watch for the seal in a charity's mailings, on its website, in newspaper and magazine advertisements, on TV, in public service announcements, and elsewhere. The seal means the national charity displaying it meets the comprehensive standards of the BBB Wise Giving Alliance.

Use of the seal is entirely voluntary. Not every national charity that meets the standards will choose to participate in the seal program. Participants sign a license agreement and pay a sliding-scale fee based on their total contributions in the past year. A national charity is eligible to apply for participation in the seal program only after an evaluation concludes that the charity meets standards. Licensing fees help BBB WGA cover its expenses.

Occasionally donors ask BBB WGA whether licensing fees influence the outcome of charity evaluations. The answer is no. Our analyst staff is very thorough for each evaluation completed. After a charity report is posted online that shows the organization meets all 20 standards, a separate marketing staff then contacts the charity to invite them to consider participating in the seal program. In addition to this separation of the analytical and licensing processes, BBB WGA ensures that seal participants are reviewed with the same frequency (every two years) as other national charities. Since the inception of the Accredited Charity Seal, about 9% of participating charities were dropped from the seal program as the charity either no longer met standards or did not provide requested updated information. BBB WGA's commitment to objectivity is unwavering. We know that the public's trust in our work is essential to our credibility.

BBB Standards for Charity Accountability

After a three-year period, drawing on independent research on donor expectations, professional and technical assistance from a variety of philanthropic experts, and numerous comments from donors and charities, the BBB Wise Giving Alliance issued the Standards for Charity Accountability.

The full text of the new standards, with a preface and an Implementation Guide describing how the Alliance applies them, is accessible on our website, www.give.org.

GOVERNANCE AND OVERSIGHT

The governing board has the ultimate oversight authority for any charitable organization. This section of the standards seeks to ensure that the volunteer board is active, independent and free of self-dealing. To meet these standards, the organization shall have:

- 1. A board of directors that provides adequate oversight of the charity's operations and its staff. Indication of adequate oversight includes, but is not limited to, regularly scheduled appraisals of the CEO's performance, evidence of disbursement controls such as board approval of the budget and fund raising practices, establishment of a conflict of interest policy and establishment of accounting procedures sufficient to safeguard charity finances.
- 2. A board of directors with a minimum of five voting members.
- 3. A minimum of three evenly spaced meetings per year of the full governing body with a majority in attendance, with face-to-face participation. A conference call of the full board can substitute for one of the three meetings of the governing body. For all meetings, alternative modes of participation are acceptable for those with physical disabilities.
- 4. Not more than one or 10% (whichever is greater) directly or indirectly compensated person(s) serving as voting member(s) of the board. Compensated members shall not serve as the board's chair or treasurer. Publicly soliciting churches and other houses of worship: see the Implementation Guide at [www.give.org for further information about the application of this standard.]
- 5. No transaction(s) in which any board or staff members have material conflicting interests with the charity resulting from any relationship or business affiliation. Factors that will be considered when concluding whether or not a related party transaction constitutes a conflict of interest and if such a conflict is material, include, but are not limited to: any arm's length procedures established by the charity; the size of the transaction relative to like expenses of the charity; whether the interested party participated in the board vote on the transaction; if competitive bids were sought and whether the transaction is one-time, recurring or ongoing.

MEASURING EFFECTIVENESS

An organization should regularly assess its effectiveness in achieving its mission. This section seeks to ensure that an organization has defined, measurable goals and objectives in place and a defined process in place to evaluate the success and impact of its program(s) in fulfilling the goals and objectives of the organization and that also identifies ways to address any deficiencies. To meet these standards, a charitable organization shall:

- 6. Have a board policy of assessing, no less than every two years, the organization's performance and effectiveness and of determining future actions required to achieve its mission.
- 7. Submit to the organization's governing body, for its approval, a written report that outlines the results of the aforementioned performance and effectiveness assessment and recommendations for future actions.

FINANCES

This section of the standards seeks to ensure that the charity spends its funds honestly, prudently and in accordance with statements made in fund raising appeals. To meet these standards, the charitable organization shall:

Please note that standards 8 and 9 have different denominators.

- 8. Spend at least 65% of its total expenses on program activities.

Formula for Standard 8:

$$\frac{\text{Total Program Service Expenses}}{\text{Total Expenses}}$$ should be at least 65%

- 9. Spend no more than 35% of related contributions on fund raising. Related contributions include donations, legacies and other gifts received as a result of fund raising efforts.

Formula for Standard 9:

$$\frac{\text{Total Fund Raising Expenses}}{\text{Total Related Contributions}}$$ should be no more than 35%

- 10. Avoid accumulating funds that could be used for current program activities. To meet this standard, the charity's unrestricted net assets available for use should not be more than three times the size of the past year's expenses or three times the size of the current year's budget, whichever is higher. Meeting certain public disclosure requirements described in the Implementation Guide at [www.give.org may enable a charity to satisfy this standard.]

An organization that does not meet Standards 8, 9 and/or 10 may provide evidence to demonstrate that its use of funds is reasonable. The higher fund raising and administrative costs of a newly created organization, donor restrictions on the use of funds, exceptional bequests, a stigma associated with a cause and environmental or political events beyond an organization's control are among factors which may result in expenditures that are reasonable although they do not meet the financial measures cited in these standards.

11. Make available to all, on request, complete annual financial statements prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. When total annual gross income exceeds $1,000,000, these statements should be audited in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. For charities whose annual gross income is less than $1,000,000, a review by a certified public accountant is sufficient to meet this standard. For charities whose annual gross income is less than $250,000, an internally produced, complete financial statement is sufficient to meet this standard.

12. Include in the financial statements a breakdown of expenses (e.g., salaries, travel, postage, etc.) that shows what portion of these expenses was allocated to program, fund raising and administrative activities. If the charity has more than one major program category, the schedule should provide a breakdown for each category.

13. Accurately report the charity's expenses, including any joint cost allocations, in its financial statements. For example, audited or unaudited statements which inaccurately claim zero fund raising expenses or otherwise understate the amount a charity spends on fund raising, and/or overstate the amount it spends on programs will not meet this standard.

14. Have a board-approved annual budget for its current fiscal year, outlining projected expenses for major program activities, fund raising and administration.

FUND RAISING AND INFORMATIONAL MATERIALS

A fund raising appeal is often the only contact a donor has with a charity and may be the sole impetus for giving. This section of the standards seeks to ensure that a charity's representations to the public are accurate, complete and respectful. To meet these standards, the charitable organization shall:

15. Have solicitations and informational materials, distributed by any means, that are accurate, truthful and not misleading, both in whole and in part.

Appeals that omit a clear description of program(s) for which contributions are sought will not meet this standard.

A charity should also be able to substantiate that the timing and nature of its expenditures are in accordance with what is stated, expressed or implied in the charity's solicitations.

16. Have an annual report available to all, on request, that includes:

- (a) the organization's mission statement,
- (b) a summary of the past year's program service accomplishments,
- (c) a roster of the officers and members of the board of directors,
- (d) financial information that includes:
  - (i) total income in the past fiscal year,
  - (ii) expenses in the same program, fund raising and administrative categories as in the financial statements, and
  - (iii) ending net assets.

17. Include on any charity websites that solicit contributions, the same information that is recommended for annual reports, as well as the mailing address of the charity and electronic access to its most recent IRS Form 990.

18. Address privacy concerns of donors by

- (a) providing in written appeals, at least annually, a means (e.g., such as a check off box) for both new and continuing donors to inform the charity if they do not want their name and address shared outside the organization, and
- (b) providing a clear, prominent and easily accessible privacy policy on any of its websites that tells visitors
  - (i) what information, if any, is being collected about them by the charity and how this information will be used,
  - (ii) how to contact the charity to review personal information collected and request corrections,
  - (iii) how to inform the charity (e.g., a check off box) that the visitor does not wish his/her personal information to be shared outside the organization, and
  - (iv) what security measures the charity has in place to protect personal information.

19. Clearly disclose how the charity benefits from the sale of products or services (i.e., cause-related marketing) that state or imply that a charity will benefit from a consumer sale or transaction. Such promotions should disclose, at the point of solicitation:

- (a) the actual or anticipated portion of the purchase price that will benefit the charity (e.g., 5 cents will be contributed to abc charity for every xyz company product sold),
- (b) the duration of the campaign (e.g., the month of October),
- (c) any maximum or guaranteed minimum contribution amount (e.g., up to a maximum of $200,000).

20. Respond promptly to and act on complaints brought to its attention by the BBB Wise Giving Alliance and/or local Better Business Bureaus about fund raising practices, privacy policy violations and/or other issues.
